LEAVING THE BLACK BELT.

If the tide keeps on all the negroes will have left the black belt in a few years.

"You may not know," said a man of prominence in railroad circles, "that if the present rate of emigration keeps up for a few years longer there will be no more negroes to speak of in Alabama's fertile black belt. They are going to the mineral section, to the North, to Texas, to California, and to every other place they can get money enough to carry them. Singular as it may seem, the more the negro gets of education he is filled with an irresistible desire to travel, and never is satisfied until he goes somewhere outside the boundaries of the State in which he lives."—Montgomery Advertiser.

SAILORS believe religiously that the frigate bird can start at daybreak with the trade winds from the coast of Africa and roost the same night upon the American shore. Whether or not this is a fact has not yet been conclusively determined, but it is certain that the bird is the swiftest of winged creatures, and is able to fly, under frvorable conditions, 200 miles an hour.

THE Duke of Hamilton's family mausoleum rivals anything of the kind in this country. It cost $900,000. The tomb is a model of the Castello di San Angelo at Rome, and the internal decorations are superb, the gates being a copy of the Ghiberti gates at Florence, and the coffin of Duke Alexander, who built the mausoleum, is inclosed in an Egyptian sarcophagus of black marble, covered with hieroglyphics, which was brought from Alexandria.

A FLAT ARGUMENT.

"Let's run away from school to-day, Jimmy."

"Naw."

"Why not?"

"Dad convinced me that it don't pay. He gave me a very flat argument on that point last time."

"How, flat?"

"A shingle."—Chicago Ledger.

The Work of Revenge Still Going On.

AUBURN, Ind., Feb. 14.—David S. Ober and Wm. Murphy, two as reputable republican citizens as live in this county, have just been arrested by the United States marshal for violation of election laws.

Muslins, prints, towels, ginghams, all new, bottom prices. Louis Wolf & Co.

OUR NEW LAWS!

The Indiana Senate Passes the Andrews Election Bill To-day—Important Measures.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 14.—The senate this morning passed the Andrews election bill, with but eleven votes in the negative, Senator Burke, of Clarke, being the only democrat who voted against the bill.

The consideration of the supreme court commission bill was begun and the discussion promises to last throughout the day.

The republicans are opposing the bill because it provides for the election of the commissioners by the legislature who, of course, will be democratic.

The house passed the bill making eight hours a day's work on all public works.

The bill repealing the telephone law of 1885 is under consideration and will pass.

THE PROCEEDINGS YESTERDAY.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 14.—Now that the republican members of the legislature have wasted over one-half of the session in wind, they propose to attend the inauguration of General Harrison and leave both houses without a quorum, to prevent further legislation. Some say they will go without asking leave of absence. Of course the people elected them to attend the inauguration and not to legislate for the good of the state.

Mr. Shambaugh's bill to place the reporter of the supreme court under a salary of $4,000, and cut him off from all fees, was reported favorably.

Mr. Timmons' bill giving natural gas and oil companies power to condemn real estate for right of way was reported favorably.

Mr. Cullen's bill to empower cities and towns to vote bonds to pipe natural gas was passed under suspension of the rules.

In the afternoon Mr. Adams' bill to create a judicial district for Whitley and Noble was ordered engrossed. Also Mr. Bell's bill providing for the appointment of school teachers by district directors instead of township trustees.

Mr. Vandolah's bill to exempt church parsonages from taxation passed.

The legislature was generous yesterday. Before adjournment last evenfng bills providing for appropriations aggregating $354,500 were favorably acted upon, of which $187,500 was for the construction of the new buildings for the school for feeble minded children, and $100,000 for the normal school buildings at Terre Haute, which was finally passed in the senate. The bill appropriating $60,000 for a fire proof library (why not spend something for books?) for the state university was engrossed in the house, and the appropriation of $27,000 for needed improvements at the reform school for boys was passed without opposition. The bill proposing to increase the salaries of the prison officers failed to pass the house, because it did not receive a constitutional majority.

A WILL CONTEST.

The Charity Bequests of Mrs. Sarah Bowman Questioned.

Anna Kistler to-day instituted suit against Administrator Henry Stump to set aside the will of the late Sarah Bowman. The woman lived in this county and left considerable property. In her will she bequeathed some $6,000 to the Brethren or German Baptist church and its institutions for the care of homeless children, at Huntington, Pa.

The suit seeks to invalidate the charity bequests in the will.

WINDOM WILL HAVE IT!

Judge Devins, Who Ought to Know, Says the Minnesota Man Has Accepted the Treasury Portfolio.

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 14.—Judge Devins, of Mount Vernon, Ohio, who has been in the city the last few days in connection with several suits against the Pennsylvania railroad company, is authority for the statement that ex-Senator Windom, of Minnesota, has been appointed secretary of the treasury, and has accepted the portfolio.

JAMES W. SCOTT

Elected President of the American Newspaper Association.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The American Newspaper association to-day elected James W. Scott, of the Chicago Herald, president of the association.

NO PLACE FOR SALOONS.

The Citizens of an Ohio Town Threaten to Hang a Saloon Keeper.

VAN WERT, O., Feb. 14.—The saloons in Van Wert are closed, and drinks can not be had for love or money. There is no excitement in town, but the county is aroused, and already petitions are in circulation to submit the saloon closing to a vote in at least three townships, and more are coming. There is, however, great excitement in Union township, where a saloon has been driven out and the building torn down. F. C. Arnold, who went out of business here on account of the dry ordinance, attempted to move his saloon to Covette, a station six miles north of here, on the Mackinaw railroad. He bought a building and Monday morning hauled two wagon loads of goods and fixtures to his new location, where, upon his arrival, he met a warm reception. The country people, old and young, rich and poor, joined the villagers the night before, and tore down the house. The sills were chopped into fire wood. A person who was present says there was not enough left of the building to make a bee hive. When Arnold arrived, there was assembled a crowd estimated at two hundred, most of them armed with axes, while the leader swung a rope. Arnold and his men were given five minutes to leave town, and they obeyed the order, the women encouraging the men by waving handkerchiefs and cheering, and the entire concourse escorted the wagons three miles to the township line, where they were given a parting cheer and warned never to return. The leaders will be prosecuted in the courts.

THE NEW BRIDGE.

Figures on the Proposed Main and Columbia Street Structures.

This afternoon the commissioners opened bids for two bridges to cross the Maumee river at Main street and Columbia street, east. Petitions are before the board, one asking to transfer the bridge to Columbia street, requiring two spans, and others seek to have the new bridge go where the old one now stands on Main street. The bids are as follows:

Mt. Vernon Bridge Co. for one span bridge, 300 feet, $26,500; two spans, 156 feet each $18,900.

Massillon Bridge Co., one span, $23,985, two spans, $15,985.

Wrought Iron Bridge company, one span, $24,750; two spans, $16,550.

Columbia Bridge company, one span, $24,800; two spans, $16,000.

Pittsburg Bridge company, one span, $28,000; two spans, $18,600.

King Bridge company, one span, $25,000; two spans $16,800.

Lomas Bridge company, one span, $29,000, two spans, $19,000.

Champion Bridge company, two spans, $17,200.

Indiana Bridge company, two spans, $16,975.

Lane Bridge company, one span, $25,000; two spans, $16,900.

Milwaukee Bridge company, one span, $26,000; two spans, $18,000.

Smith Bridge company, one span, $25,200; two spans, $16,380.

Variety Bridge company, one span, $25,000; two spans, $18,000.

The Massillon company is the lowest bidder, but the award is not yet made.

Mr. H. C. Pal estimates that the stone foundation for a two span bridge will cost $13,000, and for one span, $9,000.

A LETTER, SIR!

Postmaster Kaough Will Move the Postoffice Into New Quarters To-night.

Inspector Boseker says he knows nothing about the postoffice furniture and makes no complaint. The fact is that the government is being humbugged by Cincinnati dealers who are shipping the furniture here in bits, so that occupancy of the new building is delayed.

Postmaster Kaough has determined, however, to move into the new building to-night, and asks THE SENTINEL to announce that the new postoffice will be open to-morrow morning with all its departments ready for business.

People will be surprised to see what a handsome government building we have.

ONE MILLION DOLLARS

KNIGHTS OF LABOR!

The Prominent Leaders of the Labor Organizations in Session at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14.—There is in session at the Bingham hotel, in this city, a number of the leaders of the prominent labor organizations of the country. The object of the meeting is to encourage harmony and bring about an amicable understanding between all of the national and international organizations now in existence and from the character and standing of the men in attendance there appears no room for doubt as to the success of the hoped for result.

There are present the general master workman and general secretary of the Knights of Labor. The president and general secretary of the American Federation of Trades, and representatives from the National organizations of firemen and switchmen. The meeting organized by electing G. S. Bayley, of the stwitchmen, chairman, and J. J. Leahy, of the firemen, secretary. The call for the meeting was read and those present then discussed the situation in a general way, all expressing the hope that good would come of the meeting.

A resolution was presented by Mr. Powderly that an address be prepared for distribution among the organizations of the country, as well as the workers who are not organized, and that a committee of three be appointed to prepare the address. It was agreed to and the following were appointed to report to the main body this evening: Samuel Gompers, T. V. Powderly and H. Walton.

The conference will meet again this evening at which time the address will be passed on and when approved it will be prepared for distribution broadcast throughout the country.

A CHILD DIES!

And a Train Load of People Share the Mother's Grief.

On Pittsburg passenger train No. 1, to-day, was a young woman and her child, a baby some seven weeks old. The woman was en route from New York to Chicago to join her husband, who preceded her, and having found work at his trade, sent for his wife and cherub.

After leaving New York the infant began to ail, and it was very ill at Pittsburg. As the train left Lima the cherub grew worse, and the mother, realizing that its death approached, caressed, kissed, and begged the little one to live till its papa could be near.

The members of the "Bubbling Over" company were on the train coming to Fort Wayne. One of the ladies took the child from its heart-broken mother, and nursed it with stimulants and medicines, but it died in her arms. The mother wept so bitterly that the whole train load of people were moved to sympathy, and every one shared her grief.

The gentlemen of the theatrical party busied themselves collecting a purse for the woman, and handed her $24.00.

A. O. OF F. THUNDERBOLAP.

The Kokomo "Kids," the Crack Division of the World, Suspended From the Order.

Kokomo Division, No. 8, Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias, has been suspended by Supreme Chancellor of the World William Ward, for insubordination. This announcement, now made for the first time, will be a startling surprise, not only throughout Indiana but in every Pythian quarter.

No. 8, or as it is generally called "The Famous Kokomo Kids," is one of the best known divisions of the order. A few years ago the division went to Detroit to drill in competition for a prize, and its members being mostly smooth-faced young men, the older divisions spoke of them derisively as "kids." They surprised everyone by capturing the prize, and after that wore on their badges the words "Kokomo Kids," and were victorious at all prize drills where they competed.

Last June, at the meeting in Cincinnati of the Supreme lodge of the world a drill for large prizes was one of the features. The judges were officers of the regular army, detailed by the United States government to act as such. The "Kids" were so sure of victory that they would hardly believe it when the judges awarded the prize to the Hastings (Mich.) division and at once made a hearty kick. Instead of protesting against the decision in a legal way, Kokomo broke into print and made a number of charges against the judges reflecting on their honesty and claiming, among other things, that the judges favored Hastings because the sir knight commander of that division was an ex-army officer and graduate of West Point and to have decided against him would have reflected on the skill and ability of regular army officers.

The supreme chancellor ordered Kokomo to apologize to the judges, and gave them thirty days in which to do so. This Kokomo refused or failed to do, and last evening the division was suspended until the next meeting of the supreme lodge. By this order the division is cut out of all rights and privileges of the Pythian order, and the semi-annual pass-word is refused them. Their only appeal is to the supreme lodge of the world. Kokomo will be in tears over the announcement, but it will stand by the kids. The people of that town are so warmly attached to the organization that they have little room or affection for base ball clubs, military companies or other associations.

A CROOK CAUGHT.

August Von Wietersheim Accused of Victimizing Friends of the Reformed Orphans' Home.

August Von Wietersheim is the scion of a noble and wealthy German family and was reared with all the refinement and education incident thereto.

He had a penchant for crooked work and distinguished himself in the old country by sharp practices. To save the family name from disgrace young Wietershein was transported to America and has since lived on the credulity of his countrymen.

He is famed as a swindler the country over and names his victims in every city, but he has come to grief. Some weeks ago he applied to Superintendent Rettig, of the German Reformed orphan's home, for a position to teach. The correspondence that passed between them Wietershein used as a pretext for collecting monies for the orphans' home, all over the state, going so far as to invade this city and county in his travels.

The asylum authorities complained of the fellow and this morning Officer Patton arrested him. He languishes in prison to await a hearing.

Wietersheim is scholarly and a typical German adventurer.

THURSDAY, FEB. 14, 1889.

SENATOR BARRETT.

He Asks the Sentinel to Give Him a Hearing Refused by the Gazette.

Last Monday Senator J. M. Barrett addressed a communication to the Gazette, hoping to meet the criticisms of its editors and correspondents on his tax bill.

He waited until yesterday for its publication, and despairing of the hearing he so confidently expected from the Gazette, he sent THE SENTINEL a copy of his letter and asked for its publication with this explanation:

To the Editor of the Gazette:

I have received a copy of your issue of the 9th inst., with several marked paragraphs, and a communication from Captain Hettler concerning my bill in relation to the methods of taxing the stock of building loan associations. The Gazette and Hettler both assert that the bill provides for double taxation. Is this true?

I enclose you herewith a copy of the bill from which you will see that every stockholder is permitted to deduct from the amount paid in, the amount which has been loaned to him on mortgage security. If there are members who borrow on other than mortgage security, the words "on mortgage security" should be stricken out, so that every borrower shall be permitted to deduct his indebtedness from the amount of his investment. Under this system I fail to see any "double taxation." Under the present law there is double taxation. The poor man who borrows and secures the loan by a mortgage upon his home is compelled to pay taxes on the full value of his humble cottage without any deduction, while the man who lends him the money pays no taxes on the money loaned. Is not this double taxation on the poor borrower and no taxation on the money lender?

For example: Fourteen men organize a building loan association; four pay in $2,000 a piece, and the other ten $200 a piece, making in all $10,000. The ten who have paid in $200 a piece borrow from the association on mortgage security, $1,000 a piece. Now the association has loaned out all the money paid in, and, therefore, under the present law, it pays not a cent of taxes, nor do the four men who have invested $2,000 a piece to be loaned to the other ten pay a cent of taxes on their money loaned to their poorer neighbors. The ten who have borrowed $1,000 a piece and secured it on their several homes worth $2,000 a piece (and their all perhaps) pay taxes on the full value thereof, or $2,000, so that the mortgagee pays taxes on the $1,000 of interest which he owns in his home, and on the $1,000 which his richer neighbor has invested therein in the shape of a mortgage. Now, the question is,—Is such a system just and right! Should not the money lender be compelled to pay on what he loans, and the borrower be permitted to deduct his indebtedness from the property on which it is secured!

My own views on taxation have been that every man should be compelled to pay taxes on what he is actually worth, and no more; and that property, not men, should be taxed. I therefore introduced another bill to amend the general law of taxation, to abolish the poll tax and to prevent every man whose property is covered by a bona fide mortgage to deduct the amount of such mortgage from the actual value of his property.

In these views I may be wrong, but I am glad to see the matter discussed, as I believe that our laws upon the subject of taxation are very deficient and any fair and candid discussion will be of interest and benefit to the people. There is surely no politics in a tax law that effects all alike, and therefore denunciation of Barrett or the "Barrett bill," will not convince the people. But the question is,—What's the matter with the bill? To learn this, I am coming to Fort Wayne on next Saturday, and shall be glad to have the views of any citizen, and of the Gazette.

If, as I have been informed, a large number of bankers and other wealthy citizens of the state are investing their money in these associations for the purpose of loaning it on mortgage security and escaping taxation under the present laws, then there is something wrong with the present system.

Is there any just principle of taxation which will permit any citizen to invest his money in any corporation for the purpose of loaning it to his neighbor, and thereby escape taxation, whether he secures his interest in semi-annual payments, or at the end of a series of years! If not, are there any number of men who are investing money in this way, without borrowing, and thus escaping taxation! If there are, I assume that each one of them is opposed to the bill, and will say out "double taxation," while he seeks to avoid any taxes as applied to himself. Would it not be more generous for him to say to you privately as well as your peers; that he will help you by paying the taxes on my share, and thus relieve you (the borrower) of an unjust burden."

You will see, by reference to the laws of 1889, pages 61 to 66, that any number of persons, not less than ten, may become incorporated with a capital of $1,000,000, consisting of shares not exceeding $500 each, so that each stockholder may have two hundred shares of $500 each, or $100,000. It is true that the law provides that "no periodical payment shall be required exceeding fifty cents per week on each one hundred dollars of stock," but there is nothing in the law to prohibit the ten stockholders from voluntarily paying in the $1,000,000 in cash, immediately upon the organization of the association, and they may be compelled to pay in $500 each week. This capital may be loaned to a stockholder or any other person, but if loaned to a non-stockholder, at not to exceed eight per cent. interest. It may be loaned to a stockholder at eight per cent interest and a premium. Thus we have a law which permits ten men to form a corporation with a capital of $1,000,000, loan it all upon first mortgage security and not pay one cent of interest. Is such a law a proper one? Please examine carefully the acts of 1885 and 1887 and my proposed law and give me the opinion of the Gazette. If I am wrong, I shall confess my error.

Very truly,
J. M. BARRETT.

Discussing Drainage Bills.

The drainage bills of Mr. Adams, of Whitley, and Mr. Pierce were discussed in the house as a special order. A favorable committee report had been made in Mr. Pierce's bill, but Mr. Adams, who is one of the youngest and handsomest members of the house, made a speech that convinced many of the legislators that the bill was the best, resulting in the house indefinitely postponing the measure proposed by Mr. Pierce, while the bill offered by Adams was referred back to the committee for further consideration.

A Woman's Suffrage Bill.

Mr. Reynolds introduced a bill in the house which proposes to give to women the right to vote at all municipal and school elections. The author does not expect it to receive favorable consideration, but it enables him to go on record in favor of woman suffrage.

ATTORNEY REPORT ON REMONSTRANCE.

Relative to a resolution for paving Clinton street and the remonstrance against the improvements which was referred to your committee on sewers and streets, your committee beg leave to report that we can see no reason in the remonstrance why the improvement should not be made, for the following reasons:

1. The present city is a mud pudge for natural grade will be laid on Clinton street in the summer; for that reason it would be better to defer paving the street at least one year to give the ground time to settle over the pipes.

2. A bill introduced by Senator Barrett will no doubt become a law, which will give the people a chance to pay street improvements in annual instalments; for this reason the improvements should be deferred this year to give property owners a chance of its benefits.

3. For the past two years there have been more improvements made than could be paid for without reducing the general fund too much, and out of that fund there will have to be paid several thousand dollars this year for the water works department; for this reason the council should not make any improvement that is not really necessary.

4. Clinton street south of Wayne is not a business street, the property owners do not desire to go to the expense of paving the street, as it will incur a large expense and they will not be benefitted by increasing rents, or in any way compared to the cost. before business will extend south of Wayne street, a pavement put down at this time would be worn out.

For these reasons I submit this minority report in favor of the remonstrance for your careful consideration.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we receive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simmered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them?

They do not know, of course, unless they have the courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why don't you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but a dollar for a very large bottle. Try it once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggist may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine, for it really is a mine—of health.

RAILROADING IN THE WILD WEST.

That the general railroad situation of the country is at present unsatisfactory is apparent. Stockholders are complaining; directors are bewildered; bankers are frightened. Yet that the interstate commerce act is in the main responsible for all these results remains to be proved. In my opinion, the difficulty is far more deep-seated and radical. In plain words, it does not lie in any act of the legislation, State or national; and it does lie in the covetousness, want of good faith, and low moral tone of those in whose hands the management of the railroad system now is—in a word, in the absence among them of any high standard of commercial honor.

These are strong words, and yet, as the result of a personal experience stretching over nearly twenty years. I make bold to say they are not so strong as the occasion would justify. The railroad system of this country, especially of the region west of Chicago, is to-day managed on principles which, unless a change of heart occurs, and that soon, must inevitably lead to financial disaster of the most serious kind. There is among the lines composing that system an utter disregard of those fundamental ideas of truth, fair play, and fair dealing which lie at the foundation not only of the christian faith, but of civilization itself. With them there is but one rule, that, many years ago, put by Wadsworth into the mouth of Rob Roy:

> The simple rule, the good old plan,
> That he shall take who has the power,
> And he shall keep who can.

The state of things in this respect was bad enough before the passage of the inter-state commerce act, but the operation of that act has greatly aggravated what was bad enough already. Since that act went into effect, two years ago, there has been what might be called a craze for railroad construction. Great corporations, one after the other, have contracted the madness, and have built hundreds of miles of road, almost paralleling each other. In many cases they have actually paralleled each other across wide tracts of country in which no human being lived. This is true in Wisconsin, in Minnesota, in Nebraska, in Kansas. Only a day or two since some citizens of the West called upon me, and wanted a branch of the Union Pacific built. I examined the map, and found that there was already one railroad between the two points named. They wanted us to build a parallel road a short distance from it. I suggested to them ironically that it would be better for us to build on the right of way of the other road, so as to make what would practically be one double-track road. To my surprise, they were so accustomed to railroad follies that the irony of the proposition did not suggest itself to them. They remarked, with all possible gravity, that this would be altogether the best way of doing the thing. They simply wanted a competing road, built by Eastern capital, alongside of another road already built, also by Eastern capital.—Charles Francis Adams.

My heart thrilled passionately for moment after moment during the blissful recital, and you can imagine how I followed every utterance and weighed every word in sanguine hope and yet in fear lest he should stammer and stumble or say something ungrammatical to grate on my Back Bay sensibilities. Delay of the teeth (caries) is exceedingly common, especially so among civilized people.

The lack of power to resist this disease may be due to the degeneration of vital vigor through overtaxing the nervous system or through sedentary habits and luxurious living. In this, as in other matters, there are inherited tendencies, and the children of those whose teeth decay early themselves suffer the same evil.

But what is the immediate cause of dental decay? A paper on the subject was read by Dr. George S. Allen, of New York, before a meeting of the dental union, lately held in Boston.

According to this paper, the credit of solving the question belongs to Dr. W. D. Miller, an American residing in Berlin, Germany. The solution is found in the germ theory, which has already settled the origin of so many infectious diseases.

The microscopic germs, which are called bacteria, the smallest of organized beings, so small that it takes 100,000 of them placed lengthwise to measure an inch, belong to the plant family. They multiply both by division and by the formation of spores. The spores, which correspond to seeds, have great vitality, and are unaffected by the temperature that would destroy the parent plant. The multiplication by division is exceedingly rapid.

Thus the total eradication of the germs is almost out of the question, and in even a short time, if the pests be neglected, it becomes difficult to limit the harm they can do. That harm may be effected either by the growth of the bacteria at the expense of the cells of the body or more probably, perhaps, by developing a poison in their waste products.

It must be remembered, however, that many kinds of bacteria are perfectly harmless, while it is possible that some aid in the vital processes of the organism.

The mouth is infested by several forms of innocent bacteria. The saliva is never free from them. Therefore, in order to ascertain if dental caries is due to bacteria, most rigorous tests were necessary. The bacteria must be found in the decayed matter of the teeth; be isolated from every other kind; cultivated outside of the body, and the pure cultivation must produce a similar caries when introduced into a healthy tooth, and this caries must show the same form of bacteria.

Dr. Miller's experiments have conformed to these tests. He found bacteria filling the tubules of the decayed teeth; obtained pure cultures from them, and, placing the latter in tubes with pieces of sound teeth, the microscope in from two to four weeks showed a similar caries, and the tubules distended with similar bacteria.

A Pleasure Shared by Women Only.

Malherbe, the gifted French author, declared that of all things that man possesses, women alone take pleasure in being possessed. This seems generally true of the sweeter sex. Like the ivy plant, she longs for an object to cling to and love—to look to for protection. This being her prerogative, ought she not to be told that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the physical salvation of her sex? It banishes those distressing maladies that make her life a burden, curing all painful irregularities, uterine disorders, inflammation and ulceration, prolapsus and kindred weaknesses. As a nervine, it cures nervous exhaustion, prostration, debility, relieves mental anxiety and hypochondria and promotes refreshing sleep.

The sale of seats for "Jim, the Penman," opens at the box office to-morrow morning. It is unnecessary to laud this attraction as it is the strongest on the road.

The Huntington Herald says: "County Auditor Heaston, Tuesday, made the sale of the remaining forty acres of land in Allen county belonging to Huntington county. The land was sold for $400 to Jacob Johnson. This closes out all the congressional school land held by Huntington county, and converts the same into money."

It will be remembered that when Frank Higbee, the Fort Wayne bootblack, was arrested for burglarizing the saloon of Samuel Ashley, at Huntington, the precocious youth made a confession that implicated Daniel Sullivan as a party to the burglary. This confession he repeated under oath to Prosecutor Branyan, but yesterday on the witness stand, he swore to his own falsehood and exonerated Sullivan.

It will interest about five hundred aspiring republicans in this district to know that an arrangement has been perfected by which all applicants for government positions will have to go through the hands of defeated republican candidates for congress in districts having no representative in the national house of representatives. That of course puts Congressman White into the position of patronage dispenser for the Twelfth district, and the Allen county hungry and thirsty aspirants will do well to cultivate the favor of the distinguished member from this district.

In giving support to Senator Bafrett's bill to relieve borrowers of building and loan association funds from taxation, the South Bend Times says: "If any change in the law is to be made it should be to relieve from taxation persons who borrow building association money for the purpose of securing a home of their own, to the extent of say one thousand dollars. Such an enactment would prove both an individual and a public benefit. It is a well established fact that the ownership of houses by people of moderate circumstances strengthens their interest in the welfare of the town, county and state in which they live. Hence, whatever can be done by legislation to facilitate the acquirement of such homes, should be done speedily and cheerfully."

Thomas, a spidery drunk before his honor this morning.

Mains will be laid along the right of way of the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati and Louisville railroad company. Mr. Henry C. JUDGE ADAIR.

He Had a Narrow Escape From Death and is Wrestled in a Lively Way.

Judge Adair, who was appointed to the bench in the Whitley Kosciusko circuit to succeed Judge Olds, had a narrow escape from death the other day. He had a severe tooth ache and during the day and evening took various narcotics for relief. In the night Dr. D. S. Linvill was called and not knowing that Judge Adair had drank some whisky and taken cloral, administered morphine. Late at night the doctor left the bedside of Judge Adair, instructing the attendant to administer another dose of medicine at two o'clock and one every hour thereafter, providing the patient failed to sleep.

The judge went to sleep soon after the last medicine was administered and slept very heavily. The prespiration ran off him in streams and his breathing was difficult, so much so that the members of the family became very much alarmed, but did not send for the physician as he had promised to return at five o'clock. He did not come however until eight, and the minute he saw his patient he realized the importance of immediate action. Dr. Linvill aroused the patient and instructed those present to keep him awake while he came up town for assistance and to ascertain what he had taken the day before.

By nine o'clock both the Linvill doctors were present and they at once began walking the floor with Mr. Adair which was continued a little more than three hours. It was with great difficulty that he was kept from falling asleep and when he did go into a doze he would stop breathing. At times it became necessary to pound him, pull his hair and even place his hands in very hot water in order to arouse him. It was after midnight when he could be safely permitted to go to sleep.

The Fort Wayne Machine Works.

Yesterday afternoon, our reporter visited the Fort Wayne machine works, located in Nebraska, east of the Horton manufacturing company. Mr. J. O. Lithgow, the very efficient superintendent of the works, showed us through the machine shop, a large and commodious two story wooden building forty-four feet in width by 160 feet in length. The machinery consists of fifteen lathes, six drill presses, four planers, two slotting machines, one automatic cutter and five other different machines.

The shop has a working force of forty hands. There is no gas or electric light in the building and the shop is only running eight hours per day on account of not having sufficient light to work after 5 o'clock. The company has many large orders to fill and Mr. John M. Landerberger, the trusted and competent general manager and treasurer of the works, assured us that by the 1st of March the works will commence working ten hours, and the force greatly increased in order that they may be able to fill the many orders. Next winter the works will be lighted by electric light. The firm has two traveling men on the road, and the orders are daily pouring in, and the facilities must soon be increased in order to be able to fill their contracts.

Superintendent Lithgow has invented, and has a patent on a number of useful machines, and all of them are the most complete now in use in woodwork in America. The company may be justly proud of securing the services of such a talented young gentleman.

In the second story in the machine shop, the draughtsman and pattern maker have cozy appartments, while the balance of the floor is occupied by material. The tool room adjoining the machine shop is 16x20 feet. Here all the tools are kept in a casing made expressly for their use. The engine house is a brick building, 20x32 feet. The blacksmith shop is 16x20 feet. The warehouse is 35x100 feet, and the office is 16 feet square.

The company is in a flourishing condition and before the 1st of April they will be able to turn out twenty-five machines per week. The Bass foundry made all of their castings. THE SENTINEL is pleased to note such a prosperous and growing institution in our city.

Death of Mrs. Taylor.

This morning at 3:30 occurred the death of Mrs. Taylor, the venerable mother of Judge R. S. Taylor, at the home of her son on Fairfield avenue.

Mrs. Taylor was seventy-one years old to-day, and singular it is that she should pass to her reward on the anniversary. She has been ill, and death was expected, but this does not rob it of its sorrows, for the lady was dearly beloved, venerated and esteemed in and out of the family circle.

Judge Taylor went to New York last Tuesday, and has been telegraphed for.

Shops Will Run Nine Hours.

The machinists at the Bass works are now working only nine hours a day.

Conductor George Dillon, of the Nickel Plate road, is off on his vacation.

Fred Daseler, of the Pittsburg boiler shops, is recovering from his recent illness.

Will Noble, clerk at the Bass works, is suffering with a severe cold, but remains on duty.

Fred Berghorn, of the Pittsburg boiler shops, is still confined to his home with rheumatism.

The Grand Rapids pay car went south yesterday, after paying the employes of the road at this point.

George Treeby, oiler at the Pittsburg shops, has recovered from his recent illness, and resumed his duties.

Clif P. Kennedy, traveling passenger agent of the Milwaukee, Lake Shore, and Western, was in the city last night.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company is putting the English locomotive just received in order, and will give it a trial next week.

Thomas Toomey, of the Bass works, who has been off duty for ten days, on account of a burned foot, has returned to work again.

John T. Wichman, a machinist at the Bass works, has an interesting brood of young chicks at his home, which were hatched out by a hen last week.

Engineer Jackson, who was injured in the wreck yesterday, on the Pittsburg, will be confined to his home in this city with his injuries for several days.

General McNulta, receiver of the Wabash road, who has been east for ten days, in consultation with the friends of the property, returned home Tuesday.

D. L. Smith, traveling passenger agent of the Pennsylvania, who has been at his home at Columbus, Ohio, for two weeks, on account of sickness, has recovered and returned to his office in this city.

Orders have been issued on the Pennsylvania road that no freight except perishables shall run on Sunday. The men will stop work at 10 o'clock Saturday night and will not return to their labor until 7 o'clock Sunday evening.

The Bee Line and Big Four railroads have consummated arrangements for the consolidation of these great lines. The reason given is that the latter desired to extend their lines to St. Louis, but found the necessary links in the leased roads of the Bee Line.

F. Chandler, general ticket agent of the Wabash Western, has printed a folder which is so arranged that it gives the time of arrival and departure at all points of every train, and the distances between every station distinctly. On the last leaf of the folder is a condensed time table of every road operated west of the Missouri river.

Some of the boys at the Pittsburg blacksmith shops were interested in ferreting out the Nebraska ghost, and after a number of expeditions they have finally discovered that it is human, with the ghostly accompaniments of a white sheet and a pumpkin with a candle in it. The boys were nearly frightened out of their wits the other evening while on an investigation tour at the old tannery. The party was composed of F. E. Nikola, Wm. Heusel, Frank Kelly, R. Welden and Charles Maples.

The bondholders' committee of the Wabash state that antagonistic parties to the reorganization scheme have persistently misconstrued the report of the master in chancery. President Ashley, of the Wabash Western, states that there is nothing at all in the reports prejudicial to the interests of the reorganization party. The report of the masters does not decide any legal points whatever, but it is regarded mainly as a suggestive document to the court to be used when formulating the decree for the foreclosure.

Master Mechanic G. L. Potter, of the Pennsylvania company's shops in this city, and Master Mechanic Swanson, of the Pennsylvania shops at Indianapolis, are members of a committee appointed by the Pennsylvania system to meet at Altoona, Pa., on the 23d of this month [illegible] shops and the discovery of [illegible] by which shall be used in the shops which the Pennsylvania company are to erect at that point. The new shops will have capacity for turning out three complete locomotives a week.

Several cars were demolished by a wreck on the Nickel Plate at Amelia, Ohio, Monday night.

Hadley's string band, which has some of the Bass foundry employes in it, is out on the war path again.

Fireman Wm. Devenly had his wrist dislocated in the collision on the Pittsburg road at Lafayette yesterday morning.

The east bound shipments from Chicago last week aggregated 61,890 tons, against 64,188 for the previous week and 49,069 for the corresponding week last year. The total shipments of flour, grain and provisions alone were 35,840 tons, against 36,043 for the corresponding week last year. The percentages of the several roads were: Grand Trunk, 23.7; Michigan Central, 14.7; Lake Shore, 12.2; Fort Wayne, 15.2; Panhandle, 7.9; Baltimore and Ohio, 9.4; Nickel Plate, 15.5; Big Four, 1.4.

Yours truly,

LEAVING THE BLACK BELT.

If the tide keeps on all the negroes will have left the black belt in a few years.

"You may not know," said a man of prominence in railroad circles, "that if the present rate of emigration keeps up for a few years longer there will be no more negroes to speak of in Alabama's fertile black belt. They are going to the mineral section, to the North, to Texas, to California, and to every other place they can get money enough to carry them. Singular as it may seem, the more the negro gets of education he is filled with an irresistible desire to travel, and never is satisfied until he goes somewhere outside the boundaries of the State in which he lives."—Montgomery Advertiser.

SAILORS believe religiously that the frigate bird can start at daybreak with the trade winds from the coast of Africa and roost the same night upon the American shore. Whether or not this is a fact has not yet been conclusively determined, but it is certain that the bird is the swiftest of winged creatures, and is able to fly, under favorable conditions, 200 miles an hour.

THE Duke of Hamilton's family mausoleum rivals anything of the kind in this country. It cost $900,000. The tomb is a model of the Castello di San Angelo at Rome, and the internal decorations are superb, the gates being a copy of the Ghiberti gates at Florence, and the coffin of Duke Alexander, who built the mausoleum, is inclosed in an Egyptian sarcophagus of black marble, covered with hieroglyphics, which was brought from Alexandria.

A FLAT ARGUMENT.

"Let's run away from school to-day, Jimmy."

"Naw."

"Why not?"

"Dad convinced me that it don't pay. He gave me a very flat argument on that point last time."

"How, flat?"

"A shingle."—Chicago Ledger.

The Work of Revenge Still Going on.

AGNEWS, Ind., Feb. 14.—David S. Ober and Wm. Murphy, two as reputable republican citizens as live in this county, have just been arrested by the United States marshal for violation of election laws.

OUR NEW LAWS!

The Indiana Senate Passes the Andrews Election Bill To-day—Important Measures.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 14.—The senate this morning passed the Andrews election bill, with but eleven votes in the negative, Senator Burke, of Clarke, being the only democrat who voted against the bill.

The consideration of the supreme court commission bill was begun and the discussion promises to last throughout the day.

The republicans are opposing the bill because it provides for the election of the commissioners by the legislature who, of course, will be democratic.

The house passed the bill making eight hours a day's work on all public works.

The bill repealing the telephone law of 1885 is under consideration and will pass.

THE PROCEEDINGS YESTERDAY.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 14.—Now that the republican members of the legislature have wasted over one-half of the session in wind, they propose to attend the inauguration of General Harrison and leave both houses without a quorum, to prevent further legislation. Some say they will go without asking leave of absence. Of course the people elected them to attend the inauguration and not to legislate for the good of the state.

Mr. Shambaugh's bill to place the reporter of the supreme court under a salary of $4,000, and cut him off from all fees, was reported favorably.

Mr. Timmons' bill giving natural gas and oil companies power to condemn real estate for right of way was reported favorably.

Mr. Cullen's bill to empower cities and towns to vote bonds to pipe natural gas was passed under suspension of the rules.

In the afternoon Mr. Adams' bill to create a judicial district for Whitley and Noble was ordered engrossed. Also Mr. Bell's bill providing for the appointment of school teachers by district directors instead of township trustees.

Mr. Vandolah's bill to exempt church parsonages from taxation passed.

The legislature was generous yesterday. Before adjournment last evening bills providing for appropriations aggregating $354,500 were favorably acted upon, of which $187,500 was for the construction of the new buildings for the school for feeble minded children, and $100,000 for the normal school buildings at Terre Haute, which was finally passed in the senate. The bill appropriating $60,000 for a fire proof library (why not spend something for books?) for the state university was engrossed in the house, and the appropriation of $27,000 for needed improvements at the reform school for boys was passed without opposition. The bill proposing to increase the salaries of the prison officers failed to pass the house, because it did not receive a constitutional majority.

A WILL CONTEST.

The Charity Bequests of Mrs. Sarah Bowman Questioned.

Anna Kistler to-day instituted suit against Administrator Henry Stump to set aside the will of the late Sarah Bowman. The woman lived in this county and left considerable property. In her will she bequeathed some $6,000 to the Brethren or German Baptist church and its institutions for the care of homeless children, at Huntington, Pa.

The suit seeks to invalidate the charity bequests in the will.

NO PLACE FOR SALOONS.

The Citizens of an Ohio Town Threaten to Hang a Saloon Keeper.

VAN WERT, O., Feb. 14.—The saloons in Van Wert are closed, and drinks can not be had for love or money. There is no excitement in town, but the county is aroused, and already petitions are in circulation to submit the saloon closing to a vote in at least three townships, and more are coming. There is, however, great excitement in Union township, where a saloon has been driven out and the building torn down. P. C. Arnold, who went out of business here on account of the dry ordinance, attempted to move his saloon to Covette, a station six miles north of here, on the Mackinaw railroad. He bought a building and Monday morning hauled two wagon loads of goods and fixtures to his new location, where, upon his arrival, he met a warm reception. The country people, old and young, rich and poor, joined the villagers the night before, and tore down the house. The sills were chopped into fire wood. A person who was present says there was not enough left of the building to make a bee hive. When Arnold arrived, there was assembled a crowd estimated at two hundred, most of them armed with axes, while the leader swung a rope. Arnold and his men were given five minutes to leave town, and they obeyed the order, the women encouraging the men by waving handkerchiefs and cheering, and the entire concourse escorted the wagons three miles to the township line, where they were given a parting cheer and warned never to return. The leaders will be prosecuted in the courts.

THE NEW BRIDGE.

Figures on the Proposed Main and Columbia Street Structures.

This afternoon the commissioners opened bids for two bridges to cross the Maumee river at Main street and Columbia street, east. Petitions are before the board, one asking to transfer the bridge to Columbia street, requiring two spans, and others seek to have the new bridge go where the old one now stands on Main street. The bids are as follows:

Mt. Vernon Bridge Co. for one span bridge, 300 feet, $26,500; two spans, 156 feet each $18,900.

Massillon Bridge Co., one span, $23,985, two spans, $15,985.

Wrought Iron Bridge company, one span, $24,750; two spans, $16,550.

Columbia Bridge company, one span, $24,800; two spans, $16,000.

Pittsburg Bridge company, one span, $28,000; two spans, $18,600.

King Bridge company, one span, $25,000; two spans $16,800.

Lomas Bridge company, one span, $29,000, two spans, $19,000.

Champion Bridge company, two spans, $17,200.

Indiana Bridge company, two spans, $16,875.

Lane Bridge company, one span, $25,000; two spans, $16,900.

Milwaukee Bridge company, one span, $26,000; two spans, $16,000.

Smith Bridge company, one span, $25,200; two spans, $16,380.

Variety Bridge company, one span, $25,000; two spans, $16,000.

The Massillon company is the lowest bidder, but the award is not yet made.

Mr. H. C. Pal estimates that the stone foundation for a two span bridge will cost $13,000, and for one span, $9,000.

A LETTER, SIR!

Postmaster Keough Will Move the Postoffice Into New Quarters To-night.

Inspector Boseker says he knows nothing about the postoffice furniture and makes no complaint. The fact is that the government is being humbugged by Cincinnati dusters who are shipping the furniture here in bits, so that occupancy of the new building is delayed.

Postmaster Keough has determined, however, to move into the new building to-night, and asks THE SENTINEL to announce that the new postoffice will be open to-morrow morning with all its departments ready for business.

People will be surprised to see what a handsome government building we have.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR!

The Prominent Leaders of the Labor Organizations in Session at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14.—There is in session at the Bingham hotel, in this city, a number of the leaders of the prominent labor organizations of the country. The object of the meeting is to encourage harmony and bring about an amicable understanding between all of the national and international organizations now in existence and from the character and standing of the men in attendance there appears no room for doubt as to the success of the hoped for result.

There are present the general master workman and general secretary of the Knights of Labor. The president and general secretary of the American Federation of Trades, and representatives from the National organizations of firemen and switchmen. The meeting organized by electing G. S. Bayley, of the switchmen, chairman, and J. J. Leahy, of the firemen, secretary. The call for the meeting was read and those present then discussed the situation in a general way, all expressing the hope that good would come of the meeting.

A resolution was presented by Mr. Powderly that an address be prepared for distribution among the organizations of the country, as well as the workers who are not organized, and that a committee of three be appointed to prepare the address. It was agreed to and the following were appointed to report to the main body this evening: Samuel Gompers, T. V. Powderly and H. Walton.

The conference will meet again this evening at which time the address will be passed on and when approved it will be prepared for distribution broadcast throughout the country.

A CHILD DIES!

And a Train Load of People Share the Mother's Grief.

On Pittsburg passenger train No. 1, to-day, was a young woman and her child, a baby some seven weeks old. The woman was en route from New York to Chicago to join her husband, who preceded her, and having found work at his trade, sent for his wife and cherub.

After leaving New York the infant began to ail, and it was very ill at Pittsburg. As the train left Lima the cherub grew worse, and the mother, realizing that its death approached, caressed, kissed, and begged the little one to live till its papa could be near.

The members of the "Bubbling Over" company were in the train coming to Fort Wayne. One of the ladies took the child from its heart-broken mother, and nursed it with stimulants and medicines, but it died in her arms. The mother wept so bitterly that the whole train load of people were moved to sympathy, and every one shared her grief.

The gentlemen of the theatrical party busied themselves collecting a purse for the woman, and handed her $24.00.

A K. OF P. THUNDERBOLT.

The Kokomo "Kids," the Crack Division of the World, Suspended From the Order.

Kokomo Division, No. 8, Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias, has been suspended by Supreme Chancellor of the World William Ward, for insubordination. This announcement, now made for the first time, will be a startling surprise, not only throughout Indiana but in every Pythian quarter.

No. 8, or as it is generally called "The Famous Kokomo Kids," is one of the best known divisions of the order. A few years ago the division went to Detroit to drill in competition for a prize, and its members being mostly smooth-faced young men, the older divisions spoke of them derisively as "kids." They surprised everyone by capturing the prize, and after that wore on their badges the words "Kokomo Kids," and were victorious at all prize drills where they competed.

Last June, at the meeting in Cincinnati of the Supreme lodge of the world a drill for large prizes was one of the features. The judges were officers of the regular army, detailed by the United States government to act as such. The "Kids" were so sure of victory that they would hardly believe it when the judges awarded the prize to the Hastings (Mich.) division and at once made a hearty kick. Instead of protesting against the decision in a legal way, Kokomo broke into print and made a number of charges against the judges reflecting on their honesty and claiming, among other things, that the judges favored Hastings because the sir knight commander of that division was an ex-army officer and graduate of West Point and to have decided against him would have reflected on the skill and ability of regular army officers.

The supreme chancellor ordered Kokomo to apologize to the judges, and gave them thirty days in which to do so. The Kokomo refused or failed to do, and last evening the division was suspended until the next meeting of the supreme lodge. By this order the division is cut out of all rights and privileges of the Pythian order, and the semi-annual pass-word is refused them. Their only appeal is to the supreme lodge of the world. Kokomo will be in tears over the announcement, but it will stand by the kids. The people of that town are so warmly attached to the organization that they have little room or affection for base ball clubs, military companies or other associations.

A CROOK CAUGHT.

August Von Wietershein Accused of Victimizing Friends of the Reformed Orphans' Home.

August Von Wietershein is the scion of a noble and wealthy German family and was reared with all the refinement and education incident thereto.

He had a penchant for crooked work and distinguished himself in the old country by sharp practices. To save the family name from disgrace young Wietershein was transported to America and has since lived on the credulity of his countrymen.

He is famed as a swindler the country over and names his victims in every city, but he has come to grief. Some weeks ago he applied to Superintendent Rettig, of the German Reformed orphan's home, for a position to teach. The correspondence that passed between them Wietershein used as a pretext for collecting monies for the orphans' home, all over the state, going so far as to invade this city and county in his travels.

The asylum authorities complained of the fellow and this morning Officer Patton arrested him. He languishes in prison to await a hearing.

Wietershein is scholarly and a typical German adventurer.

E. A. E. HARRITT, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, FEB. 14, 1889.

SENATOR HARRETT.

He Asks the Sentinel to Give Him a Hearing Refused by the Gazette.

Last Monday Senator J. M. Barrett addressed a communication to the Gazette, hoping to meet the criticisms of its editors and correspondents on his tax bill.

He waited until yesterday for its publication, and despairing of the hearing he so confidently expected from the Gazette, he sent THE SENTINEL a copy of his letter and asked for its publication with this explanation:

To the Editor of the Gazette:

I have received a copy of your issue of the 9th inst., with several marked paragraphs, and a communication from Captain Hettler concerning my bill in relation to the methods of taxing the stock of building loan associations. The Gazette and Hettler both assert that the bill provides for double taxation. Is this true?

I enclose you herewith a copy of the bill from which you will see that every stockholder is permitted to deduct from the amount paid in, the amount which has been loaned to him on mortgage security. If there are members who borrow on other than mortgage security, the words "on mortgage security" should be stricken out, so that every borrower shall be permitted to deduct his indebtedness from the amount of his investment. Under this system I fail to see any "double taxation." Under the present law there is double taxation. The poor man who borrows and secures the loan by a mortgage upon his home is compelled to pay taxes on the full value of his humble cottage without any deduction, while the man who lends him the money pays no taxes on the money loaned. Is not this double taxation on the poor borrower and no taxation on the money lender?

For example: Fourteen men organize a building loan association; four pay in $2,000 a piece, and the other ten $200 a piece, making in all $10,000. The ten who have paid in $200 a piece borrow from the association on mortgage security, $1,000 a piece. Now the association has loaned out all the money paid in, and, therefore, under the present law, it pays not a cent of taxes, nor do the four men who have invested $2,000 a piece to be loaned to the other ten pay a cent of taxes on their money loaned to their poorer neighbors. The ten who have borrowed $1,000 a piece and secured it on their several homes worth $2,000 a piece (and their all perhaps) pay taxes on the full value thereof, or $2,000, so that the mortgagee pays taxes on the $1,000 of interest which he owns in his home, and on the $1,000 which his richer neighbor has invested therein in the shape of a mortgage. Now, the question is,—Is such a system just and right? Should not the money lender be compelled to pay on what he loans, and the borrower be permitted to deduct his indebtedness from the property on which it is secured?

My own views on taxation have been that every man should be compelled to pay taxes on what he is actually worth, and no more; and that property, not men, should be taxed. I therefore introduced another bill to amend the general law of taxation, to abolish the poll tax and to prevent every man whose property is covered by a bona fide mortgage to deduct the amount of such mortgage from the actual value of his property.

In these views I may be wrong, but I am glad to see the matter discussed, as I believe that our laws upon the subject of taxation are very deficient and any fair and candid discussion will be of interest and benefit to the people. There is surely no politics in a tax law that offends all alike, and therefore denunciation of Barrett or the "Barrett bill," will not convince the people. But the question is,—What's the matter with the bill? To learn this, I am coming to Fort Wayne on next Saturday, and shall be glad to have the views of any citizen, and of the Gazette.

If, as I have been informed, a large number of bankers and other wealthy citizens of the state are investing their money in these associations for the purpose of loaning it on mortgage security and escaping taxation under the present laws, then there is something wrong with the present system.

Is there any just principle of taxation which will permit any citizen to invest his money in any corporation for the purpose of loaning it to his neighbor, and thereby escape taxation, whether he secures his interest in semi-annual payments, or at the end of a series of years? If not, are there say number of men who are investing money in this way, without borrowing, and thus escaping taxation? If there are, I assume that each one of them is opposed to the bill, and will cry out "double taxation," while he seeks to avoid any taxes as applied to himself. Would it not be more generous for him to say to the borrower, "You are now paying taxes on my property as well as your own; let me help you by paying the taxes on my share, and thus relieve you (the borrower) of an unjust burden."

You will see, by reference to the acts of 1885, pages 81 to 88, that any number of persons, not less than ten, may become incorporated with a capital of $1,000,000, consisting of shares not exceeding $500 each, so that each stockholder may have two hundred shares of $500 each, or $100,000. It is true that the law provides that "no periodical payment shall be required exceeding fifty cents per week on each one hundred dollars of stock," but there is nothing in the law to prohibit the ten stockholders from voluntarily paying in the $1,000,000 in cash, immediately upon the organization of the association, and they may be compelled to pay in $500 each week. This capital may be loaned to a stockholder or any other person, but if loaned to a non-stockholder, at not to exceed eight per cent. interest. It may be loaned to a stockholder at eight per cent interest and a premium. Thus we have a law which permits ten men to form a corporation with a capital of $1,000,000, loan it all upon first mortgage security and not pay one cent of interest. Is such a law a proper one? Please examine carefully the acts of 1885 and 1887 and my proposed law and give me the opinion of the Gazette. If I am wrong, I shall confess my error.

Very truly,

J. M. BARRETT.

Discussing Drainage Bills.

The drainage bills of Mr. Adams, of Whitley, and Mr. Pierce were discussed in the house as a special order. A favorable committee report had been made in Mr. Pierce's bill, but Mr. Adams, who is one of the youngest and handsomest members of the house, made a speech that convinced many of the legislators that the bill was the best, resulting in the house indefinitely postponing the measure proposed by Mr. Pierce, while the bill offered by Adams was referred back to the committee for further consideration.

A Woman's Suffrage Bill.

Mr. Reynolds introduced a bill in the house which proposes to give to women the right to vote at all municipal and school elections. The author does not expect it to receive favorable consideration, but it enables him to go on record in favor of woman suffrage.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

MINORITY REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON STREETS.

Relative to a resolution for paving Clinton street and the remonstrance against the improvements which were referred to the committee on streets and alleys, the undersigned, a member of that committee, regretting that he can not concur in the majority report will submit in favor of the improvement. Hops to submit the following report, in favor of the remonstrance, for the following reasons:

1. The probability is that pipe for natural gas will be laid on Clinton street this summer; for that reason it would be best to defer paving the street at least one year to give the ground time to settle over the pipes.

2. A bill introduced by Senator Barrett will no doubt become a law, which will give the people a chance to pay street improvements in annual instalments; for this reason the improvements should be deferred this year to give property owners a chance of its benefits.

3. The past two years there have been more improvements made than could be paid for without rendering the gendarme fund too much, and one of them this year will have to be paid several thousand dollars this year for the water works department; for this reason the council should not make any improvement that is not really necessary.

4. Clinton street South of Wayne is not a business street, the property owners do not desire to go to the expense of paving the street, as it will incur a large expense and they will not be benefitted by increasing rents, or in any way compared to the cost, before business will extendsouth of Wayne street, a pavement put down at this time would be worn out.

For these reasons I submit this minority report in favor of the remonstrance for your careful consideration.

H. A. HEAD.

A motion to concur was lost by the following vote:

Nays, 8: Councilmen Bandt, Haller, Hazard, Hiltbrecht, Huser, Meyer, Schmueckle, Wessel and Woulfe.

It will be remembered that when Frank Higbee, the Fort Wayne bootblack, was arrested for burglarizing the saloon of Samuel Ashley, at Huntington, the precocious youth made a confession that implicated Daniel Sullivan as a party to the burglary. This confession he repeated under oath to Prosecutor Branyan, but yesterday on the witness stand, he swore to his own falsehood and exonerated Sullivan.

It will interest about five hundred aspiring republicans in this district to know that an arrangement has been perfected by which all applicants for government positions will have to go through the hands of defeated republican candidates for congress in districts having no representative in the national house of representatives. That of course puts Congressman White into the position of patronage dispenser for the Twelfth district, and the Allen county hungry and thirsty aspirants will do well to cultivate the favor of the distinguished member from this district.

In giving support to Senator Bafrett's bill to relieve borrowers of building and loan association funds from taxation, the South Bend Times says: "If any change in the law is to be made it should be to relieve from taxation persons who borrow building association money for the purpose of securing a home of their own, to the extent of say one thousand dollars. Such an enactment would prove both an individual and a public benefit. It is a well established fact that the ownership of homes by people of moderate circumstances strengthens their interest in the welfare of the town, county and state in which they live. Hence, whatever can be done by legislation to facilitate the acquirement of such houses should be done speedily and cheerfully."

JUDGE ADAIR.

He Has a Narrow Escape From Death and is Hustled in a Lively Way.

Judge Adair, who was appointed to the bench in the Whitley Kosciusko circuit to succeed Judge Olds, had a narrow escape from death the other day. He had a severe tooth ache and during the day and evening took various narcotics for relief. In the night Dr. D. S. Linvill was called and not knowing that Judge Adair had drank some whisky and taken choral, administered morphine. Late at night the doctor left the bedside of Judge Adair, instructing the attendant to administer another dose of medicine at two o'clock and one every hour thereafter, providing the patient failed to sleep.

The judge went to sleep soon after the last medicine was administered and slept very heavily. The prespiration ran off him in streams and his breathing was difficult, so much so that the members of the family became very much alarmed, but did not send for the physician as he had promised to return at five o'clock. He did not come however until eight, and the minute he saw his patient he realized the importance of immediate action. Dr. Linvill aroused the patient and instructed those present to keep him awake while he came up town for assistance and to ascertain what he had taken the day before.

By nine o'clock both the Linvill doctors were present and they at once began walking the floor with Mr. Adair which was continued a little more than three hours. It was with great difficulty that he was kept from falling asleep and when he did go into a doze he would stop breathing. At times it became necessary to pound him, pull his hair and even place his hands in very hot water in order to arouse him. It was after midnight when he could be safely permitted to go to sleep.

The Best Wayne Machine Works.

Yesterday afternoon, our reporter visited the Fort Wayne machine works, located in Nebraska, east of the Horton manufacturing company. Mr. J. C. Lithgow, the very efficient superintendent of the works, showed us through the machine shop, a large and commodious two story wooden building forty-four feet in width by 100 feet in length. The machinery consists of fifteen lathes, six drill presses, four planers, two slotting machines, one automatic cutter and five other different machines.

The shop has a working force of forty hands. There is no gas or electric light in the building and the shop is only running eight hours per day on account of not having sufficient light to work after 5 o'clock. The company has many large orders to fill and Mr. John M. Landerberger, the trusted and competent general manager and treasurer of the works, assured us that by the 1st of March the works will commence working ten hours, and the force greatly increased in order that they may be able to fill the many orders. Next winter the works will be lighted by electric light. The firm has two traveling men on the road, and the orders are daily pouring in, and the facilities must soon be increased in order to be able to fill their contracts.

Superintendent Lithgow has invented, and has a patent on a number of useful machines, and all of them are the most complete now in use in woodwork in America. The company may be justly proud of securing the services of such a talented young gentleman.

In the second story in the machine shop, the draughtsman and pattern maker have cozy appartments, while the balance of the floor is occupied by material. The tool room adjoining the machine shop is 16x20 feet. Here all the tools are kept in a casing made expressly for their use. The engine house is a brick building, 20x32 feet. The blacksmith shop is 16x20 feet. The warehouse is 85x100 feet, and the office is 16 feet square.

The company is in a flourishing condition and before the 1st of April they will be able to turn out twenty-five machines per week. The Bass foundry made all of their castings. THE SENTINEL is pleased to note such a prosperous and growing institution in our city.

Death of Mrs. Taylor.

This morning at 3:30 occurred the death of Mrs. Taylor, the venerable mother of Judge R. S. Taylor, at the home of her son on Fairfield avenue.

Mrs. Taylor was seventy-one years old to-day, and singular it is that she should pass to her reward on the anniversary. She has been ill, and death was expected, but this does not rob it of its sorrows, for the lady was dearly beloved, venerated and esteemed in and out of the family circle.

Judge Taylor went to New York last Tuesday, and has been telegraphed for.

Some of the boys at the Pittsburg blacksmith shops were interested in ferreting out the Nebraska ghost, and after a number of expeditions they have finally discovered that it is human, with the ghostly accompaniments of a white sheet and a pumpkin with a candle in it. The boys were nearly frightened out of their wits the other evening while on an investigation tour at the old tannery. The party was composed of F. E. Nikols, Wm. Heusel, Frank Kelly, R. Welden and Charles Maples.

The bondholders' committee of the Wabash state that antagonistic parties to the reorganization scheme have persistently misconstrued the report of the master in chancery. President Ashley, of the Wabash Western, states that there is nothing at all in the reports prejudicial to the interests of the reorganization party. The report of the masters does not decide any legal points whatever, but it is regarded mainly as a suggestive document to the court to be used when formulating the decree for the foreclosure.
